ORDER REVOKING AMENDED GENERAL ORDER

The implementation of electronic filing and its mandatory use for attorneys on February 1, 2006 has caused the court to reconsider policies and procedures regarding the filing of documents.

The court hereby revokes the Amended General Order of July 30, 2004 regarding deficient petitions, pleadings and other papers as electronic filing of documents and immediate access to documents has cured many of the issues covers by the general order.

Deficiencies in petitions, pleadings and other papers will be handled through amendment and motion practice as provided for in the Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure, Local Bankruptcy Rules, ECF Administrative Procedures and other effective general orders.

This order is effective October 17, 2005.

Dated: October 13, 2005
